b. With the approval of a general meeting, the Executive shall have the power to create, and appoint people to honorary positions of distinction other than those provided for under Article 3a ii).

e) HERDSA reserves the right to terminate the membership of an individual for actions carried out in HERDSA's name which are contrary to the purposes of the Society or the Society's good standing. The procedure for disciplining members shall be determined by the Executive. Disciplinary decisions made by the Executive require ratification at a general meeting of HERDSA. Anyone who wishes to appeal against a decision may do so at the next general meeting of HERDSA.

Article 4: Organisational Structure, Executive Committee and Officers of HERDSA

a. HERDSA shall comprise all members of the Society and be governed by an Executive committee, hereinafter referred to as 'the Executive'. In addition, the convenor of the immediate next and subsequent annual conferences will be ex-officio members of the Executive until the conclusion of the respective conferences. Officers of HERDSA are not ex-officio members of the Executive but may be called to attend Executive meetings and present reports and discuss matters related to their function.

c. The membership will elect the President from financial members of the Society in the alternate year to the general election of the Executive and the successful nominee will serve a one-year term as President-elect commencing after the AGM of that year and assume the Presidency after the AGM of the following year when the new Executive takes office. The

o. For the purposes of these rules, a vacancy in the office of a member of the committee occurs if the member dies, ceases to be a member of the Society, resigns the office, or is removed from office by a majority decision of the Executive because of actions contrary to the purposes of the Society or the Society's good standing.
